

PRESS RELEASE

Of interest to editors and journalists covering:
Books/Publishing, Libraries, Entertainment, Religion, General Editorial

Did Moses Misrepresent The Ten Commandments?

A New Novel Explores This Intriguing Possibility

CHICAGO, IL - October 14, 2004 /Send2Press Newswire/ -- Thou shall not kill. Thou shall not steal. Thou shall not commit adultery. Even the casual observer would recognize these statements as lynchpins of The Ten Commandments. But THE MOSES RIDDLE, a new novel by Chicago writer Hunt Kingsbury and published by Bimini Road Publishing, suggests that Moses may have concocted these laws to rein in his unruly followers and hidden the real Ten Commandments on a secret return trip to Egypt. (Exodus 23 Vs Exodus 34).

In THE MOSES RIDDLE, the first in a series that follows Egyptologist Thomas McAllister as he searches for great lost treasures, McAllister finds the lost account of a secret journey Moses made to Egypt after the Exodus. Using clues in the text, McAllister ingeniously finds a perplexing riddle Moses carved inside the oldest temple in Egypt. The riddle leads McAllister and his partner Mayanologist Ann Davenport to a treasure so powerful, so controversial, that both government and high powered religious factions will stop at nothing to confiscate it.

"A cross between INDIANA JONES and the FUGITIVE, this fast-paced work is a first novel chock full of surprising twists and turn, bursting with suspense, romance and betrayal," says Ann Collette, of Helen Rees Literary Agency

In addition to exploring the controversial fact that Moses provided two very different versions of the Ten Commandments (Exodus 23 Vs Exodus 34), the book also contains an encrypted riddle worth $5,000 to whoever can solve it. "Readers who like mystery novels fit the same demographics as people who enjoy solving riddles," says author Hunt Kingsbury. Updates and readers' progress on solving the riddle will be posted at the author's web page www.huntkingsbury.com.

BOOK SUMMARY:

Title: The Moses Riddle
Author: Hunt Kingsbury
Publisher: Bimini Road Publishing
ISBN: 0-9729201-0-2
6x9 softcover, 343 pp., $12.95

For additional information (or media review copies), please contact: Mary Patterson, 847-835-9858.

Bimini Road Publishing was formed to create, produce and market fast-paced novels that focus on exploration of lost treasures, both real and imagined.

More information: <http://www.huntkingsbury.com>

CONTACT INFORMATION:

Mary Patterson
of Bimini Road Publishing
+1-847-835-9858
Fax: +1-847-242-9859
biminiroad@sbcglobal.net

/Note to editors: jacket image, and review copies available./

# #

[ Source of news = Bimini Road Publishing ]

Ref:

<http://www.send2press.com/2archive/2004/pr04-101401-bimini.txt>
<http://www.send2press.com/2archivePDF/pr04-101401-bimini.pdf>

-----
*IMPORTANT NOTE TO MEDIA:

to reach the organization releasing this news, please contact:
biminiroad@sbcglobal.net (media only)

If used for publication, please send specimen copy.

-----
S2PR-NP C=P/ 4C / IL / Chicago, Illinois. / U.S. English (en)
Copr. (c) 2004 Send2Press Newswire.

This release was issued on behalf of the above organization,
who is solely responsible for accuracy of content,
by Send2Press(TM), a unit of Neotrope(R). <http://www.Send2Press.com>

[www.PublishersNewswire.com]

references:

-----
10 commandments, ten commandments, the moses riddle, moses, religion, hunt kingsbury, good book, bimini, chicago, illinois, history, tablets