The Venortex Group Launches a Multi-Function Screening Company, with a Complete Menu of Business Information Services

NEW YORK, NY - Nov. 12, 2003 /Send2Press Newswire/ -- The Venortex Group Inc. (www.venortex.com), the premier industry leader in networked information today announced the launch of a multi-function screening company that takes the guess work out of the decision making process for business and government sectors.

Utilizing superior multi-platform information, leading edge technology, and an emphasis on informed and insightful customer service, The Venortex Group provides companies with all of the critical information they need to make educated and intelligent decisions quickly on issues relating to internal security, competitive market positioning and personnel development.

"The company is positioning itself to be in the top candidacy for our elements of service offerings," said Gail Anderson, V.P of Customer Service & Business Development. "We want to provide outstanding service using improved upon technology to facilitate our clients needs."

The Venortex Group's roster of services includes screening solutions like address and identity verification, as well as competitive intelligence such as marketing intelligence reports, international business reports, and small business advisories. In addition, Venortex provides professional development services including pre-hire assessments and performance development to help companies maximize human resources; and conflict management services designed to predict or resolve conflict in the workplace and improve employee/management communication, performance and productivity.

Venortex's outplacement solutions reduce the cost of traditional outplacement services for transitioning employees and downsizing businesses, cutting company costs significantly and placing employees externally within 90 days. Automated tenant solutions provide critical information about applicants instantly, helping to reduce owner risk and tenant turn over.

Additionally, Venortex has developed key automated vulnerability technology that allows businesses to cut the cost of mandatory vulnerability assessments significantly, and reduce VA performance time from days or weeks to mere hours. With Venortex's exclusive automated technology, Edge Secure, a company can perform vulnerability assessments weekly, rather than yearly, which substantially reduces internal as well as external vulnerability, increases employee retention and maximizes profitability.

"Venortex stands out from the competition by combining key hiring, training, outplacement and screening solutions products that allow better business productivity," adds DuHane Williams, Co-President. "Each and every service is catered to improving the company bottom line. We're the company that makes you make the connection."
