

Lehman Brothers Annual Security Industry Report For 2004 Now Available from Sandra Jones and Company

CLEVELAND, OH /Send2Press Newswire/ – Sandra Jones and Company, a leading security industry resource and consulting firm, announces availability of the newest Lehman Brothers Annual Security Industry Report for 2004.

Participants, investors and potential players in the US security market will gain insightful and relevant information from the comprehensive report, which contains valuable market data on size, projected growth, and technological advances.

Send2Press® Newswire

The new report is the most comprehensive effort to date for Jeffrey T. Kessler, Senior Vice President at Lehman Brothers, who has been covering the electronic security industry for twenty years and is considered the guru of Wall Street on the subject. In addition to delineating market size, projections, drivers, trends, and growth statistics; Mr. Kessler offers detailed perspectives on public companies that he covers for Lehman along with their influences on the industry.

An industry insider remarks, "This is the most useful, in-depth and thorough report on the security market today. It is apparent from everything he writes that Kessler has an intimate knowledge of the industry, its technologies, and the influencers."

The comprehensive 195 page report, produced by Lehman Brothers, contains 95 tables and charts along with information on the size of key market sectors, projected growth to 2008, technological advances and market drivers.
