

AppointmentQuest Announces Online Payment Service for Appointment Scheduling

AppointmentQuest introduces industry's first secure credit card payment service integrated with online appointment scheduling

BROOMFIELD, CO /Send2Press Newswire/ – AppointmentQuest (www.appointmentquest.com), the leading provider of online appointment scheduling services, last week introduced a payment services platform integrated with AppointmentQuest Online Appointment Manager hosted application suite. Service merchants now can securely process payments online through AppointmentQuest's trusted online scheduling infrastructure.

Send2Press® Newswire

AppointmentQuest's secure payment platform provides:

- * Real-time processing of appointment registration, rescheduling and cancellation fees; delayed captures, voids and credits;
- * Secure, redundant, high-speed connectivity to credit card processing networks via Verisign Payflow PRO and Authorize.Net Payment Services;
- * Seamless integration into AppointmentQuest Online Appointment Manager hosted application suite; and

* Persistent storage of customer payments history.

“In this era of highly competitive online commerce, few businesses can prosper without having an online payment storefront. In fact, you can hardly imagine an online store to be successful without being able to accept credit cards over the Internet. Myriads of hosted payment service providers sprung up to meet the demand of online retail, though most of service merchants were left out of the game – until now. Starting this month, AppointmentQuest is enabling the service industry to get the same benefits long enjoyed by their retail counterparts,” says Alex Kolesov, CTO and co-founder of AppointmentQuest.

“AppointmentQuest is proud to be the industry’s first vendor to offer secure credit card payment processing integrated with online appointment scheduling service”.

By offering online scheduling, appointment registration, customer management, and payment processing services, AppointmentQuest provides service merchants with a one-stop shop for all of their online commerce needs.
