

Russell Software Solutions' Home Data Bank Helps Families Cope with the Aftermath of Disaster

FORT MYERS, FL (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Russell Software Solutions (www.RussellSoftwareSolutions.com), a Florida-based software development company specializing in application solutions for the home office and personal use market, today announced the launch of Home Data Bank, a desktop application for organizing family finances and personal property, putting everything a family will need to rebuild after a crisis, right at their fingertips.

wake of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, financial management and cataloguing of personal property are proving to be the biggest hurdles for individual rebuilding,” said Earl Russell, President of Russell Software Solutions. “Banks and insurance companies can’t help victims of personal property loss without proof of assets and ownership; documented proof that is often destroyed in a disaster. Home Data Bank can keep all those critical documents in one safe place, so after a crisis you can focus on rebuilding instead of reorganizing.”

As a desktop application, Home Data Bank offers users the ability to convert paper documents into electronically captured documents using any Windows XP compliant scanner. This unique software also features storage options for other electronic media such as images, word processor files, spread sheets, and correspondence. Documents are cataloged, indexed and stored on a local database automatically, are easily retrievable, searchable, viewable and printable, and notes can be added to stored images to aid in their location and retrieval.

Also included is a multi-purpose viewer to aid in document searches. The Home Data Bank multiple image mode quickly gathers and displays images within a folder to facilitate searches, and the single image mode allows users to convert images to other formats or to print and email them. As a special introductory offer, Home Data Bank is now available on the Russell Software Solutions website at a special introductory price of $49.95.

“You can prepare yourself and your loved ones for the aftermath of thefts, fires, floods, or any natural disaster with the new Home Data Bank software from Russell Software Solutions,” said Russell. “It’s like having peace of mind right there on your computer, whenever you need it. With the Home Data Bank, the road to recovery is just one click away.”
