This online magazine offers the key to reaching more people and places.

RENO, NV (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – YourRealEstateMarket.com, a new real estate advertising online magazine from Your Real Estate Market LLC that focuses on the market for buying a second home and real estate investing was launched a few months ago. The creators of YourRealEstateMarket.com are Realtors(R) with over 43 years of combined experience in the real estate market.

Send2Press® Newswire

It was their real estate experience that compelled them to create this real estate advertising online magazine and directory that focuses on the interests of those who are buying a second home and investing in real estate. The creators of this real estate advertising online magazine understand that the largest budget of every professional goes into advertising, marketing, and promotion.

With this in mind, the creators of this real estate advertising magazine wish to provide an affordable real estate advertising online medium to real estate agents and business professionals who provide services to buyers and sellers in the second home and real estate investing market and at the same time provide an affordable real estate advertising online medium that can feature and showcase the strengths of real estate agents and other professionals who assist real estate agents in the course of their day to day transactions.

YourRealEstateMarket.com already ranks in the top 10 in the major search engines using its search terms. You can find it in Google, MSN, Yahoo, and other search engines.

This online magazine and directory is ideal for a real estate agent, mortgage professional, home inspector, accountant, intermediary, attorney, interior designer, moving company, escrow officer, home cleaning business, landscaper, licensed contractor, interior designer, or a specialty printing business. These are the professionals that YourRealEstateMarket.com had in mind that led to the birth of this real estate advertising online magazine.

Notice that its service mark is a key. It is not just a key to the second home or the investment property, but it is also a key to a new horizon in real estate advertising, marketing, and promotion. It is the key to the door that will help businesses reach more people and reach more places. It is a key that is so easy to get because YourRealEstateMarket.com made its advertising very affordable to all its fellow professionals. Paid advertisement starts as low as $5.99 per month. It is a key that is easy to use because this real estate advertising online magazine site is user friendly.

Anyone can have a business feature hosted on the site of this real estate advertising online magazine for only $49 per month. It is important that each business feature page be content rich instead of being a simple advertisement about one's business. The best thing about this is that this real estate advertising online magazine will provide a link to the business feature page on its home page.

Any business can advertise nationally, regionally, or locally at a very low price on its real estate advertising directory.

"I purchased a feature page for my Reno new home inspection business at YourRealEstateMarket.com just last Thursday. By Sunday evening, my business feature page on this Internet magazine already ranks in the top 10 of Google using my key phrases. I am really thrilled that I advertised my business on this new buying a second home Internet magazine," says Kevin Weintz who owns a Reno new home inspection business called Weintz Inspection Services.

Real estate agents can advertise their businesses and/or their real estate listings across the USA for as low as $49 per month.

YourRealEstateMarket.com is currently offering FREE BASIC listings on its real estate and business directory.

Real estate agents and business professionals can now become visible by doing a feature on their businesses on this real estate advertising online magazine. Real estate agents can now advertise their listings and businesses across the USA on its real estate and business directory.

Real estate and business professionals can now use the key to reach more people and reach more places.
