“VideoSurge.com started with a very simple idea – bring the power of video to everyone online, and give users the security and control that they are looking for,” said Joe Lakhani, President of Powered By Video, Inc.

“Our primary goal at VideoSurge.com is to put the user’s needs first. With that in mind, our technology has been developed to deliver content in the fastest and most secure way possible. Similar media hosting services don’t even let you sign up for your own account, and content remains under their direct control. At VideoSurge.com, users create their own videos and store them on our servers. They then have complete control over their own online content, including when others can see it, and where it goes on the net.”

VideoSurge.com offers customers great flexibility and ease of use. Users can upload video files to the site, or create new video directly from a webcam. Video files can be emailed or posted to a website or online auction listing using VideoSurge.com’s automatically generated code.

“We make it easy, and you will have the confidence of knowing that your online videos are well protected,” said Lakhani. “VideoSurge.com enables your creativity, freedom of expression, and lets you selectively share video and multimedia content with the people you want, while protecting it from those you don’t. Our service is fun, fast, and fully secure.”

Costs range from $3.95 per month for the SURGE single plan, which includes space for a single two-minute recording, to $14.95 per month for SURGE Power, which includes space for 20 two-minute, unlimited-use video clips. As a special introductory offer, the first week is free for all SURGE plans.
