CmdStore.com is in tune with its customer base; they have carved out a niche for themselves by stocking the most popular collectibles and action figures such as Marvel Legends, Halo, McFarlane Sports, Spiderman, Batman, Fantastic Four, The Family Guy and much more. This year's hot toys, the i-Dog as well as the impossible to find Marvel Megamorphs are still in stock, but selling very fast. Their Web site, www.CmdStore.com, offers a huge variety of items to choose from as well as convenient holiday gift guides. These guides contain a collection of the most sought after gifts on the Web, and make online shopping easy and fun for CmdStore.com customers.

"The Christmas season is the busiest time of year for us and we work hard to ensure that we fulfill all orders in time for the big day," says Thuan Nguyen, Co-Owner of CmdStore.com. "Our customers return because we provide dependable service and have the products that they want. We pride ourselves on carrying hard to find items that are always in high demand."

CmdStore.com is one of the only retailers that still offers the original Lord of the Rings action figures (series 1, 2 and 3) in brand new, unopened boxes. These, as well as Star Wars and Halo items, continue to be the hottest gifts for the holiday season.

With online shopping set to exceed last years numbers, Nguyen offers the following advice this holiday season: "Order early to avoid seeing your items out of stock. To prevent customer disappointment, we are publishing our shipping deadlines on the site. Consumers should also keep in mind the importance of providing correct payment and shipping information to ensure delivery in time for the holidays."
