

Bad Credit and Little Money? Let Uncle Sam Help You Start A Business

WASHINGTON, DC (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – A study of 405 low-income entrepreneurs, conducted by the Aspen Institute, showed that 53% of these entrepreneurs greatly improve their standard of living and had a better survival rates than the average business. So Matthew Lesko, the Government Money Guy on TV in the question mark suit, is offering a free e-book called “How To Get Money For A Business If You Have Low-Income or Bad Credit.” Anyone on the web can go to www.lesko.com/egovlowincome/ to download this free book.

Send2Press® Newswire

Grants *

Venture Capital * Low Interest Loans

The book describes over 40 sources of grants, venture capital and other money, as well as free services that are available to those with not much money who want to start their own business. For example:

- Unemployed Can Get Free Money To Live On To Start A Business Or Receive Free Entrepreneur Training
- 100 Venture Capitalists Are Looking To Invest In Businesses In Low-Income Neighborhoods

- For Every $1 You Save To Start A Business, The Government Will Give You Up To $8*
- $5,000 For Your Business When The Bank Turns You Down*
- Money For People On Welfare To Start A Business*
- $5,000 For Teenagers To Start A Business*

Lesko has been researching government money programs for over 25 years and says, "Each year over a million entrepreneurs get government money to start or expand their business. And in some of these programs, 50% of the people who apply for the money get it. So stop playing the government sponsored lottery to change your life where you have only a one in one million chance of winning. Instead you can apply for government money for your business and have a 50% chance of winning."

Lesko also says, "There are also thousands of other government programs that are available to help rich entrepreneurs, but most of the rich people already know about these programs." So if you're not rich and want to know about these programs go to www.lesko.com/egovlowincome/ for downloading instructions. You have nothing to lose except putting up with a few gaudy pictures of Lesko himself.

More information: <http://www.lesko.com>

News issued by: Matthew Lesko / Information USA, Inc.

#

Original Story ID: (1166) :: 2006-01-0111-005B

Original Keywords: Matthew Lesko, Matt, free e-book, book, how to, free money, guy in question mark suit, TV, Information USA, Inc., Grants, Venture Capital, Low Interest Loans, How To Get Money For A Business If You Have Low-Income or Bad Credit, entrepreneur, Government Money Guy, Lesko, Aspen Institute study, low-income entrepreneurs Matthew Lesko / Information USA, Inc.