

Drive For Free Gas

SAN DIEGO, CA (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Everyone has something to say about high gas prices. FreeGasHelp.com, based in Oceanside, CA, a new and innovative advertising and promotion company, is doing something about it. The company connects businesses with folks willing to display their ad messages on their vehicles. They provide a unique solution that benefits both business and consumers alike.

In a day and age where consumers are paying more than ever at the pump, FreeGasHelp.com offers a way to dramatically cut down on fuel expenses. Consumers are paid to drive as they always do, with advertiser ads strategically placed on their vehicles.

Business clients are given a highly cost effective method to put their company name into the very heart of where they offer products or services. For only pennies per day per consumer ad impression, FreeGasHelp offers a very good return on their advertisers' investments.

Consumers get help with rising gas prices by receiving a monthly allowance in the form of gas cards for placing ads from one of FreeGasHelp's participating business partners on their vehicles. The company offers ads ranging from bumper stickers to back window placements.
