

Total Computer Security – For Free!

SystemBodyguard, a new freeware product from Advanced Interactive Marketing, Inc., now offers the most powerful computer security available – for free!

CHICAGO, IL – May 15 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Throw out those expensive security packages. For no cost at all, SystemBodyguard, a new freeware product from Advanced Interactive Marketing, Inc. (AIM), will protect your computer against every threat imaginable.

Send2Press® Newswire

“Every day, the number of threats out there that can damage the information on your computer increases,” says Larry Brunken, Founder of AIM. “With SystemBodyguard, you will never have to worry about the safety of your data again.”

SystemBodyguard (available for free download at <http://www.SystemBodyguard.com>) features a powerful, easy-to-use firewall and anti-Trojan monitoring system that pick up even the most insidious Trojans, worms and viruses. A clearly visible icon bar shows, at one glance, all the programs running on a computer, tracking each for any sign of weakness.

For all its ease of use, SystemBodyguard also has advanced features that will thrill the biggest techno-buffs. It provides for the most proactive approach to computer security yet, so with a click, users can stop a program, block it from launching again, monitor it for screen shots, monitor Internet traffic, track file snooping on their computer, save activity logs and much more.

SystemBodyguard also tracks downloads and includes a simple Download Manager, so users never again have to lose a download in the labyrinths of their hard drives. Best of all, SystemBodyguard does all this for free, without users being held hostage by exorbitant license or annual renewal fees.

“Everybody should have access to free computer security to protect the information that is important to them,” says Brunken. “SystemBodyguard makes the Internet a safer place for everybody.”

About Advanced Interactive Marketing, Inc.

Advanced Interactive Marketing, Inc. was formed in 2005 by Larry Brunken to produce a group of new free software applications. With nine years experience in the online marketing business, Brunken and AIM will release groundbreaking free products for both end users and online marketers.

For more information, please visit <http://www.CustomXML.com>

News issued by: Advanced Interactive Marketing, Inc.

# #

Original Story ID: (1638) :: 2006-05-0515-004

Original Keywords: Advanced Interactive Marketing, Inc., Larry Brunken, SystemBodyguard, computer security and protection, Chicago, Illinois, freeware, AIM, customxml, custom xml Advanced Interactive Marketing, Inc.