

Barchart Launches Redesigned Homepage

CHICAGO, IL – June 27 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Barchart.com, a leading provider of stocks, futures and foreign exchange market information, today announced the launch of a completely redesigned website homepage, as seen at www.barchart.com. Over the coming weeks, the remainder of the barchart.com site will begin an evolution to match the new homepage more closely.

“Arguably overdue, our new homepage is a massive improvement,” said Eero Pikat, President of Barchart. “Now, more than ever, we feel our homepage is a strong representation of what we actually have to offer as a firm – we’re not just a financial web portal, rather we have a host of real-time, private label and professional-level data solutions available.”

The new barchart.com homepage provides a user-friendly gateway into the rest of the site. A mere glimpse of what’s in store, the homepage demonstrates that the site covers all major markets, including stocks, commodities, financial futures, funds and even foreign exchange. With nearly 20 million monthly page views and over 500,000 unique visitors each month, traders around the world already trust and respect barchart.com. The new homepage, now providing even more valuable information “at a glance,” will only strengthen the site from a user’s perspective.

The completely new barchart.com homepage is one more example of how Barchart continues to serve the trading community. Barchart’s suite of products and publications include Futures Market Service, Commodity Trading Guide, Commodity Index Report, Commodity Yearbook, CRB long-range charts, Digital Data Feed, CRB PriceCharts, Trends in Futures, PriceCharts.com, US Chart Company, CRBtrader.com and Barchart.com.
