

Dana Harrison Selected as Chief Technology Officer for Near Future

DALLAS, TX – July 13 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Near Future, LLC, a Dallas based design and installation firm specializing in combining state-of-the-art technology with high-end style announced today the appointment of its new Chief Technology Officer, Mr. Dana Harrison.

In this new venture, Mr. Harrison will be responsible for all technology direction within the company including Audio Visual and IT Infrastructure developments. His previous roles in high profile organizations as Sr. Consultant, Principal Consultant and Manager demonstrate Harrison's ability to perform at high levels.

"It is an extreme honor and privilege to have such a well-qualified individual take on this very important role in our organization. I've had the pleasure of working with Mr. Harrison at various levels of capacity in years prior and I am fully confident that he will bring the knowledge, experience and drive necessary to effectively boost Near Future to the next level of success for the benefit of our clients and shareholders," said Tyrie Jamerson, President.

Mr. Harrison completed his undergraduate education in 1995 with a B.S. Degree in Computer Science from Grambling State University. His previous experience includes more than a decade of developing business intelligence solutions for world-renowned management firms and corporations such as PricewaterhouseCoopers, IBM, and Answerthink, Inc.

Near Future is a Certified Minority Company consulting and partnering with architects, engineers, builders and interior designers to achieve environments infused with technological innovation. The growing company has designed and installed technology infrastructure for newly constructed projects such as the W Dallas Victory Hotel and Residences; the Playboy Mansion in Los Angeles, California; the John Hancock Building in Chicago, Illinois; and Baton Rouge Community College in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.
