As we evolve to meet the needs of our growing customer base throughout the world, we accept these awards as a testament to our flexibility and responsiveness in today's competitive and demanding global environment," said Jim Preuninger, CEO of Management Dynamics. "We would like to thank our customers for their continued insight and support, which enables us to drive continual product and service innovation to further enhance the value of the solutions we offer."

About the Awards

The Global Logistics & Supply Chain Strategies "100 Great Supply Chain Partners" program is the result of a six-month poll during which logistics and supply chain professionals are invited to nominate vendors and service providers whose technology, logistics, transportation or consulting solutions have made a significant impact on their company's efficiency, customer service and overall supply chain performance. Management Dynamics has been a recipient of the GL&SCS award for two consecutive years, receiving endorsements from a number of its customers including Levis, Glazer's, Eagle Logistics, Scarbrough Logistics, and NNR Global Logistics.

The 2006 "Supply & Demand Chain Executive 100" serves as an original intelligence and decision-making tool for corporate executives and management professionals working to enable their supply and demand chains for competitive advantage.

"Our goal with this year's '100' was to highlight a broad range of innovations taking place in the theory and practice of supply chain transformation," commented Andrew K. Reese, editor of Supply & Demand Chain Executive. "Management Dynamics works in enabling companies to optimize their supply chain execution decisions across increasingly global supply networks and helping enterprises reduce the risks associated with global trade. For that reason, Supply & Demand Chain Executive has selected Management Dynamics as a leading innovator in the supply chain field.”

Inbound Logistics’ “Top 100 Logistics IT Providers” recipients were selected from a list of more than 500 IT providers. Selected companies were evaluated based on their flexibility and leadership in expanding their solutions and offering enriched functionalities.

“Given the change dynamic facing leading global enterprises, it’s hard to imagine how logistics IT solutions providers are able continue to offer new and exciting solutions enabling logistics excellence,” said Felecia Stratton, editor of Inbound Logistics. “It is impressive to see Management Dynamics providing the flexibility and the kinds of solutions that forward thinking enterprises need to face these challenges of longer supply chains and globalization trends.”

Manufacturing Business Technology’s 2006 “Global 100” list of enterprise and supply chain Management application vendors is taken from an independent ranking determined by total company revenues for 2005.
