

Sequel to Nude Britney Giving Birth on a Bearskin for Baby Number 2?

CLEVELAND, Ohio – Sept. 21 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Will there be a sequel to “Monument to Pro-Life: The Birth of Sean Preston,” the much talked about Britney Spears giving birth on a bearskin rug sculpture, now that a second baby has entered her life? The weekly entertainment news podcast, “The No Name Show,” asked its sculptor, Daniel Edwards.

“He was pretty forthcoming when I asked about Britney and the possibility of another sculpture,” said the show’s host, Paul Lender, who sat down with the artist last week to talk about Edwards’s past and future sculptures.

Among other topics discussed with the artist were the recent sale of “Suri Cruise’s bronzed baby poop” to GoldenPalace.com that raised $10,000 for charity and future works such as a rumored ménage-a-trois between Brad Pitt, Angelina Jolie, and Jennifer Aniston.

“The No Name Show” is a weekly entertainment news podcast available at no-name-show.robcontradio.com, and played on the World Internet Radio Network, WIRNOnline.com, daily at 3PM and 11PM.

“The No Name Show” can be contacted via email at thenonameshow@gmail.com.

Send2Press Editorial Note: Daniel Edwards has previously been interviewed on the Send2Press entertainment podcast.

News issued by: The No Name Show

# #

Original Story ID: (2016) :: 2006-09-0921-001

Original Keywords: Paul Lender, The No Name Show podcast, sculptor Daniel Edwards, pro life Britney sculpture The No Name Show