An Applicant Tracking and Career Center for Background Check and Employment Screening Companies to Sell to Human Resource

AUSTIN, Texas – Nov. 10 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – deverus today unveiled its new, one of a kind service line, the Vero Hire. The Vero Hire is an on-demand, Web-based software application designed to help background check and employment screening companies deliver new and advanced services to help HR hire and retain productive employees.

Send2Press® Newswire

deverus says that the Vero Hire allows background check and employment screening companies offer recruiting and hiring services such as online employment applications and job boards to end users in a manner that is seamlessly connected with their current employment screening process.

Vero Hire allows these companies to create a more consistent recruiting and hiring processes, and create additional revenue channels for its business. Additionally, The Vero Hire: Career Center gives clients the ability to recruit for specific positions. It highlights the available positions, locations that are hiring, the qualifications needed for the job, and combined with the Online Employment Applications – creates a seamless recruiting process.

“By listening to our clients’ customers, we’ve created a new product that will truly help them offer more value in the marketplace. And by doing this, we’ve certainly raised the bar for background check companies who want to compete in this market space. Now you not only have to integrate to applicant tracking systems, you have to be one too,” said Shawn Rucks, CEO of deverus.
