The annual "Best of Citysearch" guide highlights the best retail shops, nightlife, service providers, and others in major cities throughout the United States. Arclinea Boston, a kitchen design showroom staffed entirely by architects and architects-in-training, was named the winner in the Citysearch Boston home decor category.

The Arclinea Boston page on the Citysearch website samples several reviews from clients, including, "mg1966" who writes: "The architectural expertise and design sensitivity I found here was incredible. My place changed dramatically. I can work a lot more efficiently, with less clutter and with amazing technology and materials. At very least it is worth a visit to see what you actually CAN do...an incredible elegant and innovative product."

"It's especially gratifying to receive an award like this one because it comes directly from homeowners themselves," says Arclinea Boston president Philip Guarino. "Both clients who have worked with us to install fully customized, contemporary kitchens, and those who've simply poked around the showroom, exploring Arclinea's elegant and innovative materials, functions, and storage and placement solutions."
