

Buildium Adds Flexible Check Printing Options to Popular Online Property Management Software

BOSTON, Mass. – June 14 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Buildium, LLC announced today the introduction of two new check printing options designed to help streamline accounts payable for landlords and property managers; customers can now independently print MICR-encoded checks on blank check stock or they can outsource check printing and mailing using Buildium’s online EZ Mailer(TM) service.

“Although other shrink-wrap software products have check-printing capabilities,” Michael Monteiro, partner and co-founder of Buildium, LLC, explained, “many, like QuickBooks, are only compatible with pre-printed checks because selling consumables is a money maker for many software companies. While that may work for people with only a few checks to print, monthly, it doesn’t work for landlords and property managers who write dozens of checks from multiple accounts.”

Buildium addresses this need by providing customers with the ability to print the entire check, including the MICR line, on inexpensive, blank check stock.

In addition to the new check writing options, Buildium’s (www.Buildium.com) property management software allows landlords and property managers to track property income, expenses, and liabilities with full-featured accounting designed with property management in mind.

It also helps streamline time-consuming tasks by automating maintenance requests, work orders, rent and maintenance fee collections, tenant/homeowner receivables, payables, and more.

Buildium offers a free, full-featured, 15-day trial of its online property management software. Monthly plans are designed to fit any budget and start at under $20 per month.

Unlike other property management software that takes a one-size fits all approach, Buildium’s three online property management software editions are targeted to the specific needs of professional property managers, landlords and self-managed condominium and homeowner associations.
