As one of the food industry’s largest and influential shows, the NASFT Fancy Food Show features the industry’s hottest domestic and international new products and educational sessions, attracting more than 2,300 exhibitors and more than 20,000 attendees from around the world, each year.

Food and beverage brand marketing expert, Tammy Katz, of Katz Marketing Solutions, will lead NASFT’s brand building session. Katz is a seasoned food marketer who has led brands including Miller Lite, Enfamil, Boost and Ruffles, and launched over 100 new products with cumulative sales of $2 billion. This workshop is designed to assist specialty food manufacturing executives profitably build their brand on a limited budget while outmaneuvering larger competitors.

During the session, participants will review case studies of some of the industry's best-performing and creative marketers, including: Dancing Deer Baking Company, Mighty Leaf Tea, Stirrings, Starbucks, Sarabeth's Kitchens, Vosges Haut-Chocolat, and Honest Tea. Attendees will also learn about the "30 Practical Do's and Don'ts" that will improve the effectiveness of their own marketing campaigns.

When asked about the session Katz replied, "Effective brand marketing doesn't require a big budget. The best performing brands consistently apply these five efficient marketing best practices to grow faster and build their brands more efficiently than the competition. Interestingly enough, these best practices are relevant to entrepreneurial brands, megabrands, and everyone in between. Every marketing leader can use these best practices to maximize their own brand's profitable growth potential and avoid common mistakes that waste time and money."

The interactive session will offer attendees emerging tools to understand and improve their performance.
