"We are here today to celebrate a unique event," announced William Liang, General Manager of DCH Freehold Toyota and Regional Vice President of DCH Auto Group. "Hospitals have always been known as a place where the sick come to heal. But CentraState has seen the future, represented in this wonderful new state-of-the-art Fitness and Wellness Center."

Liang continued, "DCH Auto Group, with local dealerships in the core of this community for more than 25 years, sees so many families in our showrooms. We know how busy people are. And raising young children is the hardest work of all. With DCH Freehold Toyota Childcare Center, hard-working parents will be able to avail themselves of all the Fitness and Wellness Center has to offer, knowing that their children are enjoying a break from the routine as much as they are."

Parents undergoing specialized treatments and rehabilitating from physical challenges will have one less worry, thanks to the services offered at the new Childcare Center which offers a variety of learning development activities and daily projects that give children a sense of accomplishment. In addition, members working out in the fitness area can use the new Childcare Center for up to two hours at a nominal fee while observing their children on closed circuit monitors at many of the work out stations.

Susan Scarola, President and CEO of DCH Auto Group commented on the company's relationship with the CentraState Healthcare Foundation, "We have forged a strong partnership over many years and pledge that we will continue to work together for our community for years to come."

With more than 30 dealerships in New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Southern California, the DCH Auto Group features a full line of new and pre-owned vehicles from Acura, Audi, BMW, Chrysler, Dodge, Honda, Jaguar, Jeep, Lexus, Lincoln/Mercury, Nissan, Toyota, Saturn, Scion and Volvo. DCH will soon celebrate its 60th anniversary, emphasizing its mission "to be an innovative industry leader totally committed to customer satisfaction, employee satisfaction, integrity and teamwork."
