"Arclinea's contemporary kitchen designs have been recognized worldwide as the standard for meticulous craftsmanship and technological innovation, and since opening in Boston, we've been honored to receive many prestigious design awards," says Arclinea Boston president Philip Guarino. "But recognition from Citysearch is especially gratifying, as it results from actual homeowner testimonials."

On Arclinea's Citysearch page, users posted reviews with headers including "exceptional quality," "really amazing," "the best Boston has in kitchens," and, simply, "wow!"

Arclinea Boston is the flagship U.S. showroom for the Italian manufacturer of exceptionally functional contemporary kitchens. Offering far more than just kitchen cabinets, its showroom features four distinct kitchen models designed and coordinated by legendary Italian architect Antonio Citterio. Each demonstrates elegant, environmentally conscious materials and ergonomic placement solutions. The showroom, which opened in 2001 in Cambridge, moved to its present location at 10 St. James Avenue in Boston's Design District in 2004. Its staff of architects and architects-in-training work with homeowners to craft fully customized kitchen renovations.

Citysearch is the nation's leading Internet local city guide. Each month, more than 20 million diverse users access Citysearch to find out where to go and what to do in their area. The annual "Best of Citysearch" guide highlights the best retail shops, nightlife, service providers, and others in major cities throughout the United States.
