

GiSTEQ PhotoTrackr Now Available for Mac

Mac users now able to take advantage of popular program

BREA, Calif., July 28 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – The creators of the popular PhotoTrackr are excited to announce that their program is now available for Mac users at their website: gisteq.com. Ever since the PhotoTrackr was created, photographers, both amateur and professional, have been making use of its easy-to-use features, allowing them to properly date, map, categorize, and organize their photos.

The program and kit immediately found favor among photographers who travel, as it is designed to integrate with the camera and to log in important information, giving the photographer the freedom to upload their photographs and, using the PhotoTrackr software, label their photographs without having to document themselves where every picture was taken.

Unfortunately the program was only available for Windows users, but now, by visiting www.gisteq.com/MACsoftware.php, photographers who use Mac-based software can take advantage of the unique software that comes with the PhotoTrackr kit.

“Our PhotoTrackr product was only available for Windows-based system before, but so many users were requesting that we create a version for Mac software that we felt we had to answer their request by creating a Mac version,” Eric Liu, president of GiSTEQ Corp. said.

The PhotoTrackr is an impressive GPS camera tracker that many professional photographers have taken notice of. It is lightweight, uses lower power, has an automated photo slideshow function, and allows users to keep track of all of their digital photos with satellite precision. It is even possible to synchronize up more than one camera to the system, allowing multiple users to document their digital photos quickly and easily.

There are currently a number of different GPS camera trackers available to purchase on the market, but the makers of PhotoTrackr say that their GPS camera tracker is one of the best on the markets for the simple fact that it is affordable, and that it is designed to work with almost all digital cameras available on the market today, making it the perfect technical gadget to purchase for yourself or for any of your friends and family.
