CHARLOTTE, N.C., Jan. 15 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) — The importance of ORCS Web to the Microsoft web hosting community was underscored today as the company announced it had received top billing in Microsoft's new Web Hosting Interview series. Representatives from ORCS Web, listed as "one of the most experienced Microsoft Platform hosting companies in business," offered their insights into web hosting in the Windows world.

Among the key points made by ORCS Web in the interview were:

* Focusing only on Microsoft technologies has both increased the depth of technical expertise on the team, as well as enabled an outstanding relationship with Microsoft support personnel.

* Working with a single operating system vendor provides a level of predictability and continuity that is infeasible in the diffuse community of Linux/UNIX vendors.

* The reliability of Microsoft's server products has been outstanding, despite impressions from years past.

* The ability to work with Microsoft in the early stages of new technologies such as IIS7 and SQL Server 2008 has given ORCS Web the ability to offer its clients access to new releases on Day One, ensuring new product support that is both cutting-edge and well tested.

"ORCS Web's working relationship with Microsoft enables us to serve our shared, virtual, and dedicated plan clients with the highest level of technical expertise and timeliness in the business," said Brad Kingsley, CEO. "We are pleased to be a key participant in Microsoft's Web Hosting Interviews site, and look forward to nurturing the synergies that the two companies have, to provide superior service to our mutual customers."
