

Coupon Sharing Site Provides Members with Discounts and Revenue

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 2 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – In today's economy, saving money is more important than ever. And, if savings can be accompanied by additional revenue, it's only an added perk. That's why Banbona, LLC (Banbona.com) has created a community-based web site that allows members to post coupons and to save money while sharing in the revenue.

For example, if a member receives a coupon via e-mail from a retailer such as Bath and Body Works, she can post that coupon on Banbona.com. Now, if a visitor to the site uses that coupon and makes a purchase, Banbona.com receives a commission from the retailer. In turn, Banbona.com offers 50 percent of that commission to the member who posted the coupon; it's a win-win situation.

Earning potential for members is excellent. Some members earned more than $200 with only one coupon submission.

"We estimate that our average member who spends 15 minutes a day looking for coupons and posting them on the site can earn commissions ranging from $300 to $500 per month," Fahd Albinali, founder of Banbona.com, says.

Currently, there are thousands of stores listed on Banbona.com. And, unlike other coupon sites, members can share coupons that might not be publicly available.

Members can search for retail coupon codes, promotional codes, and discounts. Coupon categories are varied and include: shoes, beauty products, financial services, travel, and more.
