

Light and Concept Opens Web Site to the Public

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 24 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – For individuals looking for exciting and unique lighting products, Light & Concept (L&C) announces the recent opening of its new Web site. Having been for many years the sole province of architects and contract professionals, L&C has finally opened itself to the general public as well. The company's new Web site is a veritable font of sage advice for everything having to do with lighting, whether that be at the planning, existing, or improvement stages of design.

L&C offers a wide array of products, from Philippe Starck's diminutive "Miss K" lights to the full Arco collection from Achille Castiglioni. Lights are available as typically defined by their type of installation, whether that be ceiling mounted, suspension, or recessed. Floor, table, and desk lamps may also be selected, and can be controlled by something as simple as a dimmer switch. Various wall-mounted lights (sconces), including bathroom and outdoor wall lights, may be installed in order to achieve a relaxed and informal atmosphere. Outdoor lighting may be used to show a path, to illuminate a swimming pool, or even to accentuate a bed of flowers.

Murano glass, imported from the island of Murano in Venice, is a special type of glass that is rich in lead, of incredible purity and sparkle, and nearly equal in quality to crystal. Proprietary Venetian glass-blowing techniques are employed when making lamps, sconces, and chandeliers from Murano glass. L&C offers a wide array of lighting products using this delicate yet beautiful type of glass.

L&C also offers products featuring light-emitting diode (LED) bulbs and lighting. L&C can install LED bulbs that have low heat dissipation and utilize significantly less energy than incandescent light bulbs.

For professional light installers and contractors, L&C still maintains specific Web pages and products such as connectors, joints, live-ends, and tracks. Product specifications (including costs) are provided.

L&C provides many novel and unique ways for capturing and diffusing light via a myriad of lights, lamps, and luminaries, as well as interior and exterior use items.
