

'COLIN' the $75 Zombie Horror Sensation, makes its North American Premiere at the 13th Floor Haunted House in San Antonio

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Sept. 9 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Walking Shadows LLC announces that the surprise hit of the Cannes Film Festival, "COLIN," a British zombie movie, which cost just $75 (GBP 45) to make, will make its North American Premiere at the 13th Floor Haunted House in San Antonio, Texas on Thursday, September 23, 2010 – before moving to theaters nationwide in September and October.

"COLIN" is a new take on the traditional zombie film genre, telling the tale through the eyes of the zombie, played by 29-year-old Alastair Kirton.

Filmmaker Marc Price made headlines around the world when his DIY movie gained critical acclaim for being a fresh voice in a well-worn genre and was hailed as "redefining no-budget film-making."

Price is thrilled that U.S. audiences will now get to see his movie, after news of the film was featured on U.S. television networks including CNN, ABC, and CBS – before finding a U.S. distributor.

13th Floor Haunted House is San Antonio's largest haunted house attraction and the newest attraction to the America Haunts network of professional haunted houses, regarded as some of America's best haunted houses, including the House of Torment in Austin, TX and The 13th Floor and Asylum in Denver, CO.

Price made COLIN for around $75 in cash – spent mostly on a crowbar – and tea and cookies for the zombies. He relied on friends and Facebook to cast his legion of undead extras. It took over 18 months and buckets of determination for Price to make the movie on a 10-year-old camcorder that broke during the shoot.

"If our film does anything, hopefully it will make some 14-year old who wishes to make a movie, say 'Oh, it's entirely possible, because my mobile phone has a better resolution than this guy's camcorder.' I am excited by the idea of people watching my cheap little film and thinking 'If this guy can do it, then so can I.'"

As of this announcement, COLIN has also been booked for the following play dates:

Sept 23: 13th Floor Haunted House – San Antonio, TX

Sept 24-30: Facets Cinematheque – Chicago IL

Oct 1-2: The Guild Cinema – Albuquerque, NM

Oct 4-10: Film Action Oregon – Portland, OR

Oct 15-17: Telluride Horror Show – Telluride, CO
Oct 21: Spooky Movie Film Festival – Washington, DC
Oct 23: Knoxville Horror Film Festival – Knoxville, TN
Oct 30: The Showroom – Asbury Park, NJ.
