

Taking Care of Business Today – Conference Call Series for Business Owners

BETHESDA, Md., Dec. 16 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Coleman Financial Group launches “Taking Care of Business Today,” a conference call series for business owners (colemanfinancialgroup.com). Taking Care of Business Today is an educational conference call series for business owners – covering business management, protection and succession issues. The calls are designed to help business owners with the strategies and resources they need to maximize the long term value of their businesses – and ultimately move closer to meeting their business and financial goals.

The conference call series is hosted by Taren Coleman and features industry guest speakers who discuss current and timely topics – with a focus on what usually drives most businesses – the 3 P’s – people, processes and profitability. The calls take place live and are also recorded so they can be conveniently replayed at any time.

“We kicked-off with three successful calls: Social Media Strategies For A Stronger Business Presence, Maximize The Value of Your Business, and our most recent call was Take Your Business To The Next Level, with guest speaker John Hrastar. John’s presentation was jam-packed with the ‘critical next steps’ of moving your business ahead, so much so, that John is coming back with a Part 2 for our January call,” sais Coleman.
