

New Android App Features Pin-Up Girls You Can Interact With

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 28 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – The Ring Collective, an Atlanta based interactive development company, today announced the launch of its new Fliptease app for the Android. The app celebrates pin-up girls with beautiful photography and adds a modern twist. The app encourages fans to suggest what they want to see in future updated versions and also invites women to model for the app by simply submitting photos via email.

According to The Ring Collective Co-Founder Jason Lewis “We wanted to create an app that celebrated the classic pin-up girl photography and make it interactive.” The Ring Collective Co-Founder Tony Simmons added, “We love this period of Americana and feel this app will appeal to current enthusiasts as well as attracting new fans.”

Fliptease aims to release new photos that you can add to your library of pin-up girls. Fliptease plays off of those novelty pens you used to ogle when Mom wasn't looking? The ones with the hot pin-up girl inside where a gentle tipping of the pen would magically reveal the wonder that lies underneath. Fliptease is like that, but for the Android. Shot with classic pin-up styling that even Vargas and Bettie Page would be proud of. Stay tuned for new, sensuous portraits to be launched regularly. You just download it and flip away. But be careful, it can be addictive.

Available for download on the Android Market and at <http://flipteaseapp.com> .

The app encourages fans to suggest what they want to see in future updated versions by emailing suggestions@flipteaseapp.com . The app also invites women to model for the app by submitting photos to models@flipteaseapp.com .
