

Anytime Collect Certified by Leading Independent Application Testing Service Provider

CHARDON, Ohio, Jan. 20 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – e2b software, a business application developer based in Chardon, Ohio, announced today that its Anytime Collect management software has been independently certified by VeriTest, an independent application testing service provided by Lionbridge. Anytime Collect automates credit management and accounts receivable collections activities to help small and mid-sized enterprises improve cash flow and overall financial performance.

According to Bill Henslee, President of e2b software, Anytime Collect was evaluated on a variety of performance criteria, including the install/uninstall process, documented application functionality, and ERP data integration.

“We worked really hard to make Anytime Collect the easiest credit and collections management software to install and to use,” Henslee said. “Independent validation by Lionbridge provides assurance to our prospective customers and business partners that they are purchasing a quality business application to help them reduce their outstanding accounts receivable.”

Independent testing of business software has become an effective way for software developers to build implied value into their products. “Purchasing 3rd party developed software can be a hit-or-miss experience for many customers seeking productivity-enhancing software that truly delivers promised integration with other business software,” notes Henslee.

“We saw the certification from Lionbridge as a way to differentiate Anytime Collect from other credit and collections management solutions on the market. We feel strongly that our customers deserve the greatest level of certainty from us that our software solutions will deliver an optimal user experience and investment value.”

Anytime Collect helps credit and collections professionals reduce outstanding B2B accounts receivable through automated business processes, easy access to account information and integration to popular ERP software as well as email applications and phone systems.

The certification was conducted in concert with Sage Software as part of their Gold Partner Program for independent software development partners.
