

Boston Design Center Now Open to Homeowners

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 20 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Moda Cucina, the award-winning Boston based manufacturer of premium kitchens and custom cabinetry, now offers complete turnkey design and construction services specifically designed for homeowners without a designer or architect. The design center used to be an intimidating place for some homeowners, as it was mostly geared towards design trade only clients.

Moda Cucina now offers the ability to design, manufacture, and handle the renovation and construction of a kitchen and custom cabinetry and renovation project all in-house. Homeowners are now welcome to visit the design center any day without an interior designer or architect, and can even visit on the weekends by making an appointment with Moda Cucina.

Moda Cucina Principal Max Hatziiliades is a licensed construction supervisor with over thirty years' experience in construction, and has handled dozens of projects for moda cucina clients.

“People like everything under one roof, it relieves the stress of having several professionals, and there is no finger pointing,” explains senior kitchen designer and interior designer Shirin Tahsili.

Moda Cucina became known for never outsourcing anything in its kitchen or custom cabinetry production, and handcrafts both traditional and European style cabinetry doors, moldings, finishes, and furniture in its Boston fabrication studio. By bringing design and construction in-house, Moda Cucina goes one step further to ensure total control of quality and scheduling for its clients.

“Clients can use all of our services, or just some of them, our designer and architect clients frequently take advantage of our construction services, now homeowners without a designer can have access to everything they need without leaving the design center,” says Tahsili.

Moda Cucina is the only design-build luxury kitchen and furniture design studio of its kind in the region, and combines award-winning kitchen and cabinetry designs, with full installation and construction services. Moda Cucina holds the Best of Boston Home distinction for 2009, and 2010, for cabinetry, and modern cabinetry category, as awarded by Boston Magazine. In 2010 Moda Cucina was awarded the Best Kitchen award by IFDA New England. Moda Cucina excels at building furniture to suit any taste and design style, including their nationally recognized Italian and German inspired kitchen designs.
