

Softway Solutions Develops Award-Winning Health App for Texas Heart Institute

HOUSTON, Texas, June 20, 2012 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – The Softway Solutions development team has received a Bronze Web Health Award for their development work of the iPhone / Android application Auscultation Primer. The award was presented during the 14th annual Web Health Awards program, which recognizes America's top digital health resources.

Softway Solutions is a premier website design, mobile applications and multimedia services company in Houston, Texas.

The app was developed for the Texas Heart Institute in collaboration with doctors from the organization. Its purpose is to provide auscultation (the ability to hear sounds from within the body) of an array of sounds the heart makes as related to physiology, anatomy and diagnosing cardiovascular disease. More about THI: <http://www.texasheartinstitute.org/> .

Doctors and developers of Softway Solutions included 10 live recordings from real patients which demonstrate many of the most commonly-occurring heart sounds and murmurs. Video recordings include crystal clear audio along with detailed phonocardiograms and EKG tracings to assist with timing. Softway Solutions' app designers also added descriptive text segments to enhance and improve the learning experience.

In addition to developing award-winning applications for mobile devices, Softway Solutions also provides a variety of strategic digital solutions for their clients. Since its launch in 2003, Softway Solutions has received recognition for its excellence in the following digital resource categories:

- * Business strategy development for websites
- * Web design and development;
- * Web application development and programming;
- * Game development and programming;
- * Flash and multimedia design and development;
- * IT solutions.

Softway Solutions hopes to remain an important part of healthcare in America by continuing to pioneer digital resources related to health and fitness.
