

ACSIA Partners Offers Free Speakers on a Hot Topic, How to Pay for Long-Term Care When Public Programs Won't

KIRKLAND, Wash., May 27, 2015 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Today ACSIA Partners announces the availability of a national network of speakers with expertise in long-term care funding. They're prepared to address any group about how to cover the long-term care expenses most longer-living Americans will incur at some point.

The company is one of America's largest and most experienced insurance agencies specializing in long-term care financing through a variety of means, ranging from long-term care insurance to annuities and life insurance with LTC riders.

What are the odds of needing long-term care some day? How much does it cost? And how can you pay for it when government programs fall short or don't apply in your case? These questions will be answered by the experts, who are long-term care insurance specialists with extensive training and experience.

Events planners anywhere in America may schedule a speaker in their local area. "Any organization may request a speech, question-answer session, or workshop," says Denise Gott, CEO of ACSIA Partners. "It can be a local club, religious organization, association, or other group – even a few friends concerned about the issue."

Local companies and human resource departments may also request presentations; in their case, the emphasis will be on workplace issues related to long-term care needs that affect job focus.

To date, most of ACSIA Partners' educational outreach has been through alliances with benefit brokers serving the nation's largest employers. "For some time we've been running programs for big corporations and associations," says Gott. "Now we're reaching out to smaller companies and local groups as well."
