The Insiders award recognizes companies' "go-to" team members—the professionals that their companies turn to with their most important or challenging projects, because their contributions and hard work lead to superior results.

Reichhardt is responsible for training and onboarding new ARMCO customers using the company's ACES Audit Technology. In the past nine months, the clients she has onboarded and trained have used ACES to review thousands of loans to identify loan defects in an effort to help manage risk within their organization. Sharon received the 2017 HW Insiders award for demonstrating consistent dedication to creating the highest possible customer experience throughout client training and onboarding, and ensuring a smooth, stress-free process.

"John Wooden once said, it's not what you do, but how you do it. That not only epitomizes Sharon, but also sums up why she won the HW Insider award, and why she's so valuable to ARMCO," said Phil McCall, president of ARMCO. "ARMCO's dedication to client care is one of the main reasons we have such loyalty among our customer base. Sharon embodies ARMCO's commitment to our clients' success."

"I am so fortunate to do the work that I do and to work for a company like ARMCO," said Reichhardt. "Every day is a reward because I get to make a positive difference in someone's life, every single day. I commend HousingWire for recognizing the professionals who work behind the scenes and I commend ARMCO for empowering and valuing its employees. I am so proud and honored to have been chosen for the HW Insiders award."

The HW Insiders award is in its second year. This year 33 winners were selected, representing various sectors of the housing industry, including residential mortgage lending, servicing, investing and real estate. HousingWire's editorial board selects winners based on their accomplishments over the last 12 months.

"The scale of our Insiders award this year is impressive with both its breadth and depth," said Jacob Gaffney, HousingWire Editor-In-Chief. "The talent on display here is unmistakable and the scope of the work our winners do day-in and day-out is a testament to their accomplishments. It's an honor for HousingWire to publish this award."
