

Bash Foo Launches New Digital Marketing Agency Website

DAYTON, Ohio, May 15, 2016 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Bash Foo is a digital marketing agency that regularly launches websites and digital marketing strategies and campaigns for a national client base of small to medium sized businesses. Bash Foo recently launched its own new website (bashfoo.com) showcasing best practices in web design, development, SEO and inbound marketing.

Website Design, Search Engine Optimization and Results-Driven Digital Marketing

Bash Foo is a digital marketing agency that seeks to build the online reputations of small business in affordable and inspiring ways. We have transformed creative web design, search engine optimization, and online marketing from a business into an art form.

See Our Work

unbounce | bing Ads | facebook | HOOTSUITE SOLUTION PARTNER | PANTHEON | hatchback OFFICIAL PARTNER

Small Business Owners Count On Us to deliver more traffic, bigger sales and higher profitability

We don't just deliver a bag of services, any boutique web design shop can do that. We work hard to meet the actual business demands of our clients.
More exposure, more leads, more sales and even more than that... BETTER sales.

Send2Press® Newswire

As a rapidly growing digital agency with service offerings that target B2B, B2C, small business as well as non-profits, Bash Foo demanded a site that clearly conveyed its full capabilities, relevant case studies and work examples and that would do a better job engaging site visitors through best practices and unique design elements.

The redesign and launch of Bash Foo's new website involved the company's marketing team, graphic design department, senior front-end developer, search optimization team and had oversight from the company's President, Mike McDermott.

New features of the site include:

- Fully responsive design

- Sub 2 second page load times
- Custom iconography and web graphics to showcase the company, its culture and clients
- Blog migration with a continued dedication to authoring amazing articles on digital marketing subjects
- Integration with Bash Foo's CRM, maximizing customer experience
- Fully optimized for SEO.

"When it came to the Bash Foo website, it's always been our last concern, preferring to invest our time in our client's projects. But having a team that was dedicated to this particular redesign made it an important and enjoyable success as our company is growing and actively seeking out client partners to join us in our success," says Bash Foo Founder and President, Mike McDermott. "Over the past 17 years, we have found some commonalities in our most successful clients. They all benefitted from our complete inbound digital marketing approach."

Check out Bash Foo's new website today at <http://bashfoo.com/>.

About Bash Foo:

Bash Foo is your Creative Brand Provocateur™, dedicated to building your online reputation through search engine optimization, digital marketing, and creative web design.

While tucked in the heart of a small Midwestern town (Tipp City, Ohio), Bash Foo is catalyzed by a development and marketing team that truly spans the globe. Pooling the best WordPress development and inbound agency talent, Bash Foo is home to some of the sharpest marketing and media minds.

Bash Foo wants to be a useful tool in your arsenal of awesome. Contact them today to find out how to engage.