Send2Press® Newswire

“The new site features a modern look and feel to reflect the upscale building and design projects CHR Builders completes for clients,” said Joshua Maddux, CEO of 95Visual. “The primary goal during the process was to fully capture their role as a leader in hospitality renovations and create content to instill confidence in their capabilities.”

The new features that CHR Builders chose to include in the redesign captivate users with an easy to navigate format. Users can easily distinguish commercial from the residential services CHR Builders offers, making it fast and easy to find necessary information. An online portfolio will showcase the company's past work to provide prospective clients with examples of what CHR Builders capabilities consists of.

Carlos Hernandez of CHR Builders says “Working with 95Visual on the new site was a wonderful experience due to their team collaboration and creativity throughout the process.” 95Visual is pleased to support small businesses by providing personalized solutions for each client.
