“Eric has consistently proven himself to be an outstanding member of the Current Builder’s team,” said Michael C. Taylor, CEO & President. “As a Senior Project Manager, he displayed a tremendous work ethic and did an exceptional job overseeing the $76 million 6600 Main development in Miami Lakes.”

Seminara’s vast skill set in management is perfectly paired with his extensive knowledge of the various types of construction projects Current Builders employs, including tunnel form construction, tilt wall, steel erection and wood frame.

“I am very honored to have be chosen for this major career advancement,” said

Seminara. "This is a tremendous opportunity, and I look forward to expanding Current Builders' presence on the west coast."
