Maxwell uses technology to streamline and accelerate the mortgage process for lenders serving America’s communities and their borrowers. Its AI automation, built on aggregated loan data from its network and real-time data insights, offloads manual tasks for lending teams, helping them focus on high-value work. To date, Maxwell has facilitated over $130 billion in loan volume, closing loans on its platform 45% faster than the national average.

In the past few years, Maxwell has scaled from a point of sale to an increasingly all-inclusive solution for small to midsize lenders. As a part of that journey, Maxwell released its Fulfillment Platform, a benefit for customers that offers tech-enabled onshore processing, underwriting, and closing talent, in May of 2020. Most recently, the company introduced Maxwell Diligence, providing quality control and due diligence solutions. As Maxwell's product offerings expanded and customer demand skyrocketed, the Maxwell employee base grew by more than 14x over the last three years.

"We're thrilled and honored to be included on the 2021 Inc. 5000 list. Our team has worked tirelessly over recent years to add value to lenders serving communities across the country," said Maxwell co-founder and CEO John Paasonen. "No one could have predicted the unique market in 2020. In last year's rapidly changing mortgage market, we were able to deliver products and solutions that helped lenders support their borrowers through an unprecedented time."
