

Doll Maker Bush Empress Crafts Personal Spirit Dolls for Transformative Healing and Gifting

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 9, 2015 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Around the world, dolls are recognized as universal forces to contend with. For centuries they have served as creative artifacts used as toys, religious objects and in celebratory displays. This holiday season, craftswoman Bush Empress is adding to this cultural legacy and introducing a magical line of handmade collectibles known as Personal Spirit Dolls.

Personal Spirit Dolls are palm sized little beings that merge natural elements with the wonderment of imagination to promote healing, transformation and delight! In a world riddled with trauma, Bush Empress' spirit dolls serve as therapeutic amulets that open the heart, assist with managing stress and bring harmonizing joy to the beholder.

Personal Spirit Dolls are sacred entities that carry the essence of the living earth. Each doll is individually handmade by Bush Empress with all natural materials that include corn husk, tree twigs, colorful cloth materials, seeds, stones, shells, feathers and crystals. The dolls represent the natural forces of fire, water, air, earth and ether and combine the influences of Bush Empress' Native American, ancestral African and European roots. Bush Empress prays over each doll, implanting within them divine intentions and then blesses them with essential oils made from flowers, herbs, roots and barks. Each doll comes with its own carrying pouch.

There are seven dolls total, each one representing a special meaning and named accordingly. The collection includes Peaceful Serenity; Blessed; Windancer; Spiritual Sweetness; Guidance; Victory and Protection.

As Bush Empress explains, "Everything has the capacity to heal and the Personal Spirit Dolls are potent consecrated healers. Each doll is created to carry a specific vibration to represent a special quality or concern. The dolls are small enough to be carried in one's purse or pouch and can grace an individual alter space in the home. They are also distinctive and poetic pieces of art and no two dolls are exactly alike."

A native of New Orleans, raised in San Francisco and now residing in Los Angeles, Bush Empress reveals that the Personal Spirit Dolls evolved from her intuitive inspiration, personal experience, and clairvoyant moments. At the age of seven, Bush Empress remembers seeing things that no one else could. Her father told her at a young age that she was gifted with healing hands. For the past three decades she has spiraled in her own creativity, working as a professional chef, a visual artist and craftswoman, herbalist and spiritual healer.

A mother of five children and a grandmother, Bush Empress hopes to instill vibrant blessings through the dolls.

“Mother earth is in great need of healing and we must all do our part. My dolls carry a life force that is fueled by the earth. I created them for ‘soul’ satisfaction,” explains Bush Empress, “to aide in enhancing the quality of individual lives. Each doll calls to a particular aspect of one’s inner being. The doll’s very presence rekindles the higher consciousness and nourishes the mind, body and spirit.”

Bush Empress can custom designs dolls upon request and also offers a line of anointing oils, herbal baths, incense, sage feathers, gem elixirs, and beauty and body products.
