In addition to her upcoming speaking engagements, Jenkins also announced the official launch of her Jovita Jenkins YouTube channel:

(<https://www.youtube.com/c/JovitaJenkins>) Jovita Jenkins, and her newly launched website <https://jovitajenkins.com/>.

In the webinar and on her YouTube channel, Jovita shares her approach to coaching seasoned and aspiring leaders as they adapt to new roles quickly and raise their levels of confidence and effectiveness. She as well, shares excerpts from her book, Get Out of Your Own Way, which explores the journey of self-discovery that can lead to monumental shifts and transformations in people's lives.

In addition to being a recognized success strategist, Jovita is also a pioneer in the Aerospace industry where she started her professional career. As one of only a handful of women aerospace engineers she supported high profile programs like the B-1 Bomber, Space Shuttle, Space Station, and Hubble Telescope. She rose through the ranks to Division Manager before switching careers to executive coaching. Her intrepid spirit as a female aerospace engineer, and her current role as CEO of GOOYOW Group LLC, has led Jovita to be a highly sought-after educator and coach.

When asked about her busy roles as CEO, speaker, and executive/leadership coach, Jovita commented, "My wisdom and skillset were hard-won in the Aerospace industry and in my work with clients as a coach. After leaving corporate America to focus on success coaching and related work, my team and I have been moving full speed ahead to roll out partnerships, content, and events that bring value to those looking to make powerful impact in their leadership journeys."

Companies or organizations seeking a dynamic speaker for upcoming events can book Jovita for keynote presentations, panel discussions, seminars, and workshops.
