“80 percent of legal firms in the US currently do not have a Case Management system in place,” said Liam Mullaney, CEO, eXpd8. “Instead, they are reliant on in-house developed systems that are becoming obsolete due to changing client demands. We are very pleased and excited to launch Thread in the U.S.”

Built on the Microsoft Azure platform, Thread incorporates several Microsoft technologies including Microsoft Office 365, One Drive for Business and SharePoint. This enables Thread to provide law firms with the ability to manage their entire practice smoothly and efficiently whilst also ensuring government level security, compliance and seamless connectivity. Thread binds all the threads of a legal practice together.

Growing legal firms need a capable, customizable, yet affordable solution to automate and optimize their entire business in order to survive and thrive in today’s competitive market. Thread can help them do just that.

“Thread is truly the missing piece of Microsoft Office 365 for lawyers.” said John Cuddy, Cuddy & Co Solicitors.
