

Feldmann Nagel Public Affairs, LLC Announces the Opening of Its Lobby Practice

DENVER, Colo., May 6, 2016 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Feldmann Nagel Public Affairs, LLC, (“FNPA”) has announced the opening of its lobby practice. FNPA is independent from the law firm of Feldmann Nagel, LLC, and has experienced professionals to work at both the executive and legislative branches of government. David Nagel, an accomplished attorney and CPA, is at the helm of Feldmann Nagel Public Affairs, LLC.

As Mr. Nagel states, “Lobbying is inspirational work and opens up opportunities from both a business and public service perspective. We have a broad and deep understanding of the particulars of the increasingly bureaucratic and complex legislative decision-making processes which is a huge plus.”

FNPA is equipped to appear before and work with elected and appointed officials, their staff, committees, regulators, agencies, boards, and governmental commissions.

Nagel added, “Now our boutique firm platform provides our clients with the ability to separately engage our lobby arm to shape their industries, rather than just taking a wait and see approach as to what bills get signed into law and how those new laws may affect their business operations.

“FNPA brings the same tenacity to lobbying that Feldmann Nagel, LLC has brought to the practice of law for over the past decade, serving diverse industries, including: construction, technology, marijuana, licensed professionals, alcoholic beverages, military, natural resources, non-profits, transportation, and homeowner associations.”

Feldmann Nagel Public Affairs, LLC, is based out of Steamboat Springs, Colorado, and has offices in Boulder, Denver, and Vail/Avon. FNPA embraces an “outside of the beltway” bi-partisanship lobby approach to its flagship metropolitan practice in Denver.
