

FormFree Founder Brent Chandler Named 'Tech All-Star' by Mortgage Bankers Association

ATLANTA, Ga., March 28, 2017 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – FormFree today announced that its Founder and President Brent Chandler was one of five mortgage technology innovators recognized by the Mortgage Bankers Association (MBA) in its 2017 MBA Insights Tech All-Stars award. The award, now in its 16th year, recognizes “industry leaders who have made outstanding contributions in mortgage technology.”

In a statement, MBA Chairman Rodrigo Lopez, CMB, said, “Technology is critical to the growth of our industry and the success of our members’ businesses. We have been fortunate to have a dedicated and diverse array of true innovators who continue to push the envelope and move our industry forward. MBA is honored to recognize the men and women making significant technological contributions to the real-estate finance industry.”

Chandler was recognized for the rapid adoption of FormFree’s flagship asset verification app AccountChek, which was the first of its kind and the first to be named a “designated vendor” for asset verification by Fannie Mae as part of the agency’s Day 1 Certainty™ initiative.

“There can be no advancement without innovation, and to be recognized by the MBA as having contributed to the advancement of the mortgage industry is truly an honor," Chandler said. "Cultivating AccountChek from its infancy to its current status as the first asset verification solution selected to participate in Fannie Mae's Day 1 Certainty initiative makes me proud beyond belief, and I look forward to continuing to deliver innovative digital solutions to the mortgage industry to improve both loan quality as well as the overall borrower experience."
