

FormFree unveils NextGen at Digital Mortgage conference in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 18, 2018 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – FormFree® today announced the release of NextGen, a new platform that builds on the company's award-winning AccountChek® service. Unveiled from the main stage of Digital Mortgage 2018 in Las Vegas, NextGen increases the precision and ease with which lenders determine their borrowers' ability to pay loans.

New features of NextGen include:

- A fully customizable API-enabled environment that enables a revolutionary asset retrieval experience for borrowers and loan teams
- Advanced income and employment analytics that combine borrower asset data with other data points to increase confidence in borrower ability-to-pay conclusions
- PDF bank statements to satisfy FHA and non-QM loan documentation requirements.

FormFree also announced the introduction of a custom workflow designed to serve mortgage brokers and wholesale lenders, a segment of the mortgage market that has historically been underserved by digital mortgage technology.

“FormFree has always been the leader in the first-mortgage retail space,” said Brian Francis, chief technology officer for FormFree. “Now, with the capabilities of our NextGen platform, we’re proud to deliver a tailored experience for the entire wholesale channel, from the mortgage broker to the wholesale lender all the way up to the secondary market.”

FormFree integrates with over 100 mortgage technology platforms, including loan origination systems, point-of-sale platforms and collaboration portals. Fannie Mae chose FormFree as its first designated vendor for asset validation as part of Day 1 Certainty™, and FormFree is currently in pilot for Single Source Validation, an enhancement to Fannie Mae’s DU validation service that will let lenders obtain asset, income and employment validation from one automated report.
