#NEXTDC19 takes place November 18-19, 2019, at the Kimpton Hotel Monaco in Washington, D.C.

Chandler will participate in the panel “Digital Impact: Drivers and expectations fueling (and stalling) mortgage’s digital transformation” on Tuesday, November 19, from 2 – 3 p.m. Cindy Keith, director of product development at Fannie Mae, will moderate a discussion of digital mortgage transformation and its impact on various sectors of the housing industry featuring panelists Julie Jones, senior vice president at Class Valuation and Shelley Leonard, executive vice president at Black Knight.

“Mortgage technology is in the midst of an exciting evolution, and it is crucial that we prioritize the experiences of the people involved in the lending process as we reorganize processes and develop technology,” said Chandler. “I look forward to discussing how the housing economy can work together to promote a measurably more frictionless, secure and productive home lending process.”

FormFree is a proud sponsor of #NEXTDC19. Organized by NEXT Mortgage Events, Housing Finance Strategies and Women in Housing Finance, #NEXTDC19 is the first women’s executive summit to bring together Washington policy makers, fintech luminaries and mortgage lending executives for a dedicated, ongoing conversation on housing policy’s impact on mortgage lenders and fintech providers.

Additionally, FormFree will exhibit at the MBA Annual Convention and Expo, where the company can be found at booth #621. With over 4,000 attendees, the show is the largest mortgage industry event of the year.
