

Global DMS Named to HousingWire Magazine's Inaugural HW TECH100 List

LANSDALE, Pa., March 6, 2014 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Global DMS, the leading provider of Web-based compliant valuation management software, announced that HousingWire magazine designated the company to its new HW TECH100™ list. The list honors the 100 most innovative technology firms in the U.S. housing economy. Global DMS is one of only six companies to be recognized in the valuations category.

“With more than 400 firms under consideration this year, selecting 100 was incredibly difficult – and making the cut should be considered a distinct honor,” said Jacob Gaffney, executive editor of HousingWire magazine. “What really stands out to me is this: for the firms included in the 2014 HW TECH100, the average reported customer growth rate year-over-year was a whopping 359 percent. This tells me that innovation is really taking off when it comes to the future of the housing economy.”

At the core of Global DMS' Web-based solutions is its eTrac® Enterprise platform, which provides the mortgage industry with a consistent, cost effective, automated method to compliantly manage the entire collateral valuation process. eTrac is in use by thousands of users that spans lenders, appraisal management companies (AMCs), appraisers and other real estate entities.

“The revolution in mortgage and real estate technology is just getting started. What we've already seen happen in many other industries, from retail to news media, we're now seeing take place on a grand scale in the U.S. housing economy,” commented Paul Jackson, publisher and CEO of HousingWire magazine. “The HW TECH100 recognizes those firms that are innovating the future of an industry that underpins much of the U.S. economic engine.”
