“Indigenous societies believe that we each possess original medicine, a kind of personal power, that is ours and ours alone,” says Hanagan. “The greatest challenge of our lives is to find the seed of that power, our loveSeed, and let it bloom.”

During the event, Hanagan will read excerpts from the work. The elegantly rendered prose will be accompanied by Ahmad Nadimi, creator of the compact disc "Suite for Peace." Nadimi's music is said to transport listeners to the secret dimensions of the soul. Additionally, Nancy Belmont, www.vessence.com, will facilitate group interactions designed to engage attendees and activate their own Loveseed templates.

"Loveseed has the power to create a personal shift, a deep awakening for its readers," says Asandra, author of "Contact Your Spirit Guides."

Gary Stamper, Ph.D., and author of "Awakening the New Masculine: the Path of the Integral Warrior," agrees. "In a soul-crushing world screaming for depth, meaning and connection, this book has the power to reveal what breaks our heart and returns us to the path of our inspired, highest purpose," Stamper says.

A book-signing will also follow the reading, a continuation of the commitment to sharing of wisdom and community at the heart of Hanagan's work.

The book release party lies at the center of an eventful month for Hanagan, known for her extraordinary vision and ability to facilitate transformation for herself and others. Launching "Loveseed" on Amazon Nov. 1, she also facilitates a month-long video master class series of "Conversations with Co-Creators of the New World," which expands on the themes from the book. Information on the free series is at <https://www.kathleenhanagan.com/newworldpr>.
