

House Overhead Garage Door Repair Launches Commercial Garage Door Repair Services for Business Owners

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 10, 2020 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – House Overhead Garage Door Repair, a reputable garage door repair Houston company, launches commercial garage door services. The company releases this service because business owners or companies should protect their precious assets.

A garage with the latest garage door technology supports companies and business owners to keep their assets safe. A garage with sophisticated door technology improves the security level significantly.

The CEO of the garage door repair company, Thomas Lyna, explained, “We understand the importance of having a garage for business owners and companies. Our company is trying to help business owners to install a new garage door. Business owners can choose the garage model just like what they want, including rolling doors, glass doors, fire-rated doors, and sectional insulated doors.”

Finding an experienced and professional garage door installation Houston is important for business owners. A professional garage door repair company understands the standards and specifications of the garage doors business owners need. The company supports its clients with skilled technicians. Skilled and professional technicians work carefully and based on the standards to limit unwanted risks as well as maximalize the result.

The CEO of the company added, “Business owners also need to take care of their garage to keep its performance. It takes time for them to do regular maintenance by themselves. Our commercial garage door service is not limited only to installing a new garage door but also regular maintenance. We will send a team to check the system and all the parts. The benefit of doing regular maintenance is that business owners know earlier if there is a problem with the garage door. They can also keep the performance longer and limit repair or replacement cost.”

The commercial services are including commercial garage door repair service. It deals with the complexity of the process. It involves small parts that may connect to the entire garage door system. Calling a professional garage door repair company prevents unwanted risks. On the other hand, they can get the best solution immediately. They can even solve the problem on the same day.

Lyna added, “One of the reasons we launch commercial garage door repair services is to help business owners who have garages. Since garages are a vital property for them, they have to repair it immediately if there is a problem. We will send technicians to check the garage door’s condition and repair the problem right away according to the working standard.”

About House Overhead Garage Door Repair:

House Overhead Garage Door Repair is one of the leading garage door repair companies in Houston. The company is ready with residential or commercial garage door repair services. The services cover a new installation, maintenance, repair, and replacement.

For more information, please visit <https://houstoverheadgaragedoors.com/>

Phone: (713) 766-8004

Full Address: Flushing Meadows Dr. Houston, TX. 77089

Email Address: garagedoorsouthhouston@gmail.com

Persona: Thomas Lyna