This interactive co-created pop-up features a showcase of local businesses, business leaders and inspiring women. Sesh Coworking will highlight local examples of the woman-owned economy at work, which has become a multibillion-dollar industry and social safety net in the new economic framework.

While this pop up is the first of its kind taking place in Houston, Sesh Coworking has been building its community since 2017.

Who: Sesh Coworking.

What: Networking, coworking, speakers, interactive experiences, fashion, fitness, local artists, raffles, swag bags, skill share and more. The event will also feature the debut of the new coworking space, opening in 2020, set to take Houston by storm as the first female-focused coworking space to empower and support women on their professional journey.

Where: Event Information: Sharespace, 1120 Naylor Street, Houston TX 77002.

When: October 8-16, 2019.

About Sesh Coworking:

We are a community of professional, cultivated and fearless women seeking support, balance, and success in our lives.

We are women making it happen every day no matter how small the steps must be. We are women that know where you work and who you work with matters. We are graphic designers, consultants, lawyers, photographers, artists, service providers, bloggers, – the list goes on.

We do not define ourselves by our titles because our titles are many and performed simultaneously.

We do not judge. We empower. We do not hold back. We lift up. We do not shy away – we approach. And we desire more than the status quo. We deserve more than the status quo. You deserve more than the status quo. And we do not stop until we've achieved it. And we should not have to do it alone.
