“Increasing efficiency is a top priority for every lender, and anytime lenders can automate labor-intensive processes or reduce delays through automation, that only serves to reduce turntimes and improve the borrower experience,” said IDS Vice President and General Manager Mark Mackey. “QuestSoft has a long history as one of the industry’s most reputable compliance and risk management technology firms, and we are thrilled to partner with them to integrate its income verification service into idsDoc.”

Through the integration, loan teams are notified as soon as borrowers complete the 4506-T form in the IDS eSign room, allowing them to streamline the ordering process and pull direct-source data for more accurate income verification. As a result, joint QuestSoft-IDS customers can potentially reduce processing times while improving loan integrity and quality.

“As more lenders embrace the electronic signing of mortgage documents, the ability to easily order and verify income data through IDS and QuestSoft provides lenders a compliant, secure way to increase efficiency and speed the time from application to closing,” said Steve Butler, Senior Vice President, Business Development at QuestSoft.

QuestSoft’s full suite of IRS 4506-T verification services helps prevent fraud and inaccuracies before each loan is funded. A personal review by a QuestSoft expert ensures that data is properly analyzed. As an authorized Day 1 Certainty® Report Supplier, QuestSoft’s 4506-T service also allows lenders to have freedom from reps and warrants.
