The San Francisco area was recently ranked as the second most expensive place in the United States to rent office space by National Real Estate Investor. By adding a new virtual office in Burlingame, Intelligent Office can give Bay Area entrepreneurs, professionals, and businesses access to a well-trained staff, and the flexibility of a mobile office, all without the sky-high cost of renting their own office space.

Small businesses across the country are experiencing continued growth, but in order to thrive in this challenging, competitive business environment, they are seeking to work smarter. The tailored services of virtual offices are increasingly becoming a source for reducing overhead cost, and ultimately, to achieve greater success. Intelligent Office's business suites, virtual offices, shared conference rooms, remote receptionists, and Intelligent Assistants provide support for entrepreneurs, professional services firms, independent contractors, satellite offices, and home-based businesses across the Bay Area.

“We look forward to opening and are thrilled to be bringing industry-leader Intelligent Office to this vibrant entrepreneurial community,” said Al Weedman, President of Intelligent Office San Francisco and Burlingame. “The Bay Area is a hub of innovation and cutting-edge business, and the focus is on value creation. By delivering customized services and innovative workspace solutions, we aim to add value for our clients – allowing them to work smarter and better.”
